SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board and the Citizens of the School District of Stewartstown:

Foreword

One living here in our beautiful North Country has but to observe the constant stream of raw materials on the way to the market, mill or factory, as the case may be, to realize the extensive power that already has been attained over nature. A bit of reflection, however, makes us see that it would be ironic to extend this control without the maturity of mind to know what to do with it.

Of even more vital concern to us, than ways and extent to which we are using these natural materials round about us, is the reason for their use. We have traveled so far and so fast by the various "means" provided that the tendency has been to overlook the "ends." It is questionable if there ever was a time when the need for serious thought on the future was any more important than at the present time. Today, with the perfection and efficiency that has been attained in so many different skills, it is urgent that the emphasis be not on the "how" but rather on the "for what."

With the acceptance of this premise, the role of public education becomes more embracing than ever before. For what we are as well as where we are tomorrow and for generations to come, will depend largely upon the character of our schools and the teachers who teach in them. Not only the special talents which our boys and girls develop while at school, but also their attitudes, understandings and appreciations—the frame within which they will make their future lives—will be the determining factors for the place that America holds in the world during the years to follow.

Teachers

The district is indeed fortunate in having the same teachers return to the schools kept open this year. Velma H. Gray, principal, Mae T. Drew, Junie S. Aldrich and Cleora M. Richardson are again at the West Stewartstown School. Carrie A. Riley returned to Cedar Brook and Harriet O. Gray to the Hollow.

Notes on the Budget

The School Board's Budget for 1949-50 is $31,793.00 in comparison to one, including the amount appropriated for reconditioning the heating plant at the West Stewartstown School, of $31,608.00 for last year. The budget is reduced by an estimated income of $9,900.00, which leaves a requested appropriation of $21,893.00. For the most part the increase in this year's budget is explained by increases in salaries; greater number of tuition pupils, anticipated increase in rate of tuition, and higher cost of transportation.

Buildings and Equipment

Except for a few minor repairs at the Cedar Brook and Hollow Schools most of the repair work done during the summer was confined to building over and improving the heating plant at the West Stewartstown School.

Enrollment and Attendance

The present enrollment shows a total of 119. Of this number 69 are at West Stewartstown, 23 at Cedar Brook and 27 at the Hollow School. During the past year the average percent of attendance at these schools was 96.06, 95.12 and 93.37 respectively, while for the same period the average number of tardinesses per pupil was .59, 1.69 and .62.

Tuition

A total of 33 high school pupils are attending school outside the district at the present time. Of this number 24 are at Canaan High School and 9 at Colebrook Academy. Last year there were 32 and the previous year 30 tuition pupils. On the basis of the present 8th grade enrollment, it is expected that there will be a marked increase in the number attending these secondary schools next year.

Six pupils are attending the West Stewartstown School from Pittsburg.

Legislation

The present year promises to be an important one in the consideration of legislation that will effect education. Several new proposed laws as well as numerous changes in and amendments to the existig laws will be presented to the Legislature. Of vital concern to the local district are the adoption of a full equalization formula for the distribution of state aid, teachers' retirement, additional state aid for cooperative school districts, state aid for building programs, and state aid for the compulsory transportation of high school pupils.

Conclusion

In conclusion, may I point out once more the ever increasing responsiblity that must be accepted by our schools. As important as is the provision of every adequate and feasible means in the broadening of the minds of our youth, it is of even greater importance that they be deepened to the extent that adaptations to life's many and perplexing situations become progressively more constructive.

May I again express my deep appreciation to the members of the school board, parents, teachers and citizens for the council and help received in our efforts to maintain high standards in our schools.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST B. DANA
Superintendent of Schools
